and I thought if there's any other explanation that you could make it would be helpful. But it, in a lot of ways, it is a matter of fairness because of their inability to recognize other sources of income the same as property tax and state aid are recognized. And so...and obviously, based on some discussions and some information that we've had in the newspapers and so forth, they certainly do need a little more influx of funds up there for their purposes of education. So I'm going to be supportive.

SENATOR BOHLKE: Thank you, Senator Wehrbein, and really what we have done over the last years in recognize the case that they were making that we needed to increase their needs in the formula and we have done that, have now caused the problem they were getting lopped off.

SENATOR CROSBY: Senator Bohlke, Senator Bohlke, we were...that was on your opening. Are you finished?

SENATOR BOHLKE: Thank you, Madam President, I'm finished.

SENATOR CROSBY: Okay, so I'll go on to the next speaker. Senator Beutler, discussion?

SENATOR BEUTLER: Senator Bohlke, if I could just ask a few questions.

SENATOR CROSBY: Senator Bohlke, will you yield?

SENATOR BOHLKE: Yes.

SENATOR BEUTLER: First of all, could you just describe what schools benefit from this? This is a million to a million and a half going to five or six schools I assume, the...the...

SENATOR BOHLKE: Two districts, both being Indian schools, will get the money. Five schools, five school districts, including all Indian schools, but also including Minatare, could qualify.

SENATOR BEUTLER: Why would Minatare...

SENATOR BOHLKE: Why Minatare? (Laugh)
